

Public library's temporary home

Dear editor,

First and foremost, thank you for your coverage of the Richmond County Public Library's temporary relocation, our summer reading program, and our other programs for children this summer in your article "Richmond County Public Library Commemorates New Location" (July 6). Your mention of our Friends of the Library bookstore in Warsaw is appreciated too.

My only criticism of the otherwise excellent article was that it neglected to explain why we relocated the library this summer and that the relocation is only temporary while the RCC Campus roof over our permanent location is being replaced, which will close down our usual library location for several weeks.

We are grateful to Richmond County Schools Superintendent Dr. Greg Smith and his staff for granting us access to the former Intermediate School location and for getting the facilities and technology there in good working order for our temporary stay there.

Dan Ream
Library Coordinator, Rappahannock
Community College Libraries Glens and Warsaw Campuses and Director, Richmond County Public Library